

Caleb Bates's Reminiscences -

Feb. 28. 1844.

May. Thaxter was supposed to have been killed at the Massacre of Fort Mifflin. News came to this town to that effect. Thomas Brun saw him and washed him tied up to a tree. The Indians had stripped him of all but his shirt & breeches. - He had his commission in his pocket. Two French officers came along - They asked them if they saw Commissioned officers in this way. They asked him in broken English for his commission. He exhibited it. They examined it - doored his fastenings & said "quick walk". He ran as fast as he could run and reached Fort Edward in safety the next morning. He heard the cries of men
- savages all night.

He was believed here to be dead. Dr Gay preached his funeral sermon from the Text "Alas how often I have said unto them &c Lamentations, 11 Samuel 18-33

The first knowledge of his safety he brought himself - He came into town on horseback.
My grandfather met him & told him "we had buried you" &c &c.

Valle Rata

Penicillium

Feb 28, 1944,

Deep Throat